Excellent presentation!

*

I was very glad there were no breaks! Sometimes I missed the end of sentences; I think maybe the speaker sped up and dropped his voice. Loved having points illustrated by teacher playing them on the piano.

*

Regarding registration: I called the day before the class to register and I left a message to be called back--no one called back. I had to call a 2nd time and the Graham School employee was not pleasant at all.

This class should be 30 min. longer!

Would be nice to provide a list of the pieces played during the class (it may be the iconic pieces of the composers reviewed in the historical overview).

*

So comprehensive in content, lends itself to extended multi-session course--least liked aspect. Most: eloquent, culturally comprehensive, and inspiring.

*

We took John Gibbons' wonderful course on Clemenza de Tito. We made a special trip to Chicago for this course. Please consider a course with the Chicago Opera Theater again.

*

Good: instructor giving examples on piano--outstanding; knowledge of instructor--outstanding; comparisons of composers.

Note: class participation was nil because of my own underdeveloped musical knowledge base. Class discussion was not necessary to this class.

The instructor has excellent ability to communicate the information. I also really enjoyed the music we listened to which illustrated the concepts. I am also greatly looking forward to accessing the websites and other materials listed. Opera video was interesting type of presentation. Great job for the limited time frame.

*

Please include "melody" and "texture" in the glossary.

*

John is incredibly knowledgeable and passionate; his enthusiasm was inspiring.

*

John is brilliant and highly communicative and engaging. Looking forward to other opportunities for him to share his knowledge and enthusiasm.

The only regret I have is that this is only one day. I wish this course would have been presented over at least several Saturdays. John Gibbons is clearly one of the very best instructors of the Graham School, if not the University. I look forward to taking more courses taught by him in the future.

*

The instructor was marvelous. Very insightful and thought-provoking. Problem: voice drops at end of sentence so I have to take another course to get the half of is examples I couldn't hear!
